Person A: "Sure, what do you have in mind?"

Person B : "How about Sangria?"

Person A: "Well, I don't really know how to make it..."

Person B: "Ah, no problem! It's my specialty!"

Person A: "Okay then! Let's go for it!"

Person B wears an apron.

Person B: "Okay we need a pitcher, a knife, and a small spoon"

Person A: "I will get them for you."

Person B: "Great and I will bring all the ingredients that we need. Okay, let me think. We need 1 Bottle of red wine, 1 Lemon which we will cut into wedges, 1 Orange that we also need to cut into wedges, 2 Tbsp sugar, 1 Shot brandy, 2 Cups club soda."

The two individuals get all the required materials and place them on the table.

Person B: "Let's see....did we get all the things we need?..... Yeap, I think that's all."

Person A: "I will cut the lemon and orange wedges"

Person B: "Okay I will take care of the rest. Ah! Maybe get another lemon. This is green, it's not ripe yet."

Person A: "Ok. Done with the cutting....So, what shall we do next?"

Person B: "We have to pour wine in the pitcher and squeeze the juice wedges from the lemon and orange into the wine."

Person A: "Oh this is simple!"

Person A pours wine in the pitcher and squeezes the juice wedges from the lemon and orange into the wine.

Person B: “Wait! It’s not over yet...Now we need to toss in the fruit wedges, leave out the seeds!!! Ah! Two seeds fell in the pitcher!”

Person A: “Let me bring a spoon to take them out...”

Person B: “Great, ok! And finally, the finishing touch.....we will add sugar and brandy...mmmmm.” (tastes the mix with a spoon)

Person A: “And what about the club soda?”

Person B: “Ahh, we add club soda just before serving!”

Person B takes the soda and pours some in the pitcher. He stirs the mix in the pitcher and then fills in the two glasses.

Person B: “Mmmm it’s very good!”

Person A: “Let me taste it!!! It smells really good.....Oh it is really tasty!” Person A drinks from the glass. “Cheers” – the individuals laugh and toss their glasses.
